What the Brotherhood Proposes to do on the Diamond in 1900.

New York, November 4th.—The counsel of the Brotherhood of Baseball players, after an all day session, made public this evening a statement defining their position toward the National League.

Referring to their intention to embark in the business for themselves next year, their explanation of the reasons is in part as follows: There was a time when the name of the League stood for integrity and fair dealing. To-day it stands for dollars and cents. Once it looked to the elevation of the game and an honest exhibition of the sport. To-day it is the name of the game. Men have come into the business to make money, not to play the game. They are not interested in the game, but in the money. They are not interested in the game, but in the money. They are not interested in the game, but in the money.

The reserve rule and the provisions of the National agreement gave the managers unlimited power and they have not hesitated to use this in the most arbitrary and mercenary ways. Players have been bought and sold and exchanged as if they were mere chattels.

Reservation became with them another name for property rights. By a combination of the reserve rule and the provisions of the National agreement, they have been able to keep the game from becoming a free market. They have been able to keep the game from becoming a free market. They have been able to keep the game from becoming a free market.

The statement given in detail the labor of the Brotherhood with the League managers the past two years in futile endeavor to remedy some of the evils, and says upon the final refusal this year to meet the Brotherhood they began organizing.

"We understand," says the statement, "that it is possible to conduct our national game upon lines which will not infringe upon the rights of the players. We are not interested in the game, but in the money. They are not interested in the game, but in the money. They are not interested in the game, but in the money."

The first annual meeting of the players of the National League was held at Chicago, and the final disposition of the clubs and players will be made. Brooklyn and Buffalo will take the places of Indianapolis and Washington, and the players of these clubs will be distributed between Brooklyn, Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

The Chicago News makes a summary of the Cronin trial to date, and its conclusions are that thus far the prosecution has not connected Camp 20 of the Clan-na-Gael with the alleged conspiracy; that its meetings have been laid bare and shown to have been very common-place affairs, and that the most important thing about the organization is its secrecy, and that relates mainly to the ceremonies, which are silly things and do not involve any hide-bound oaths to do deeds of blood. Further, that the testimony for the prosecution does show that the prisoners were involved in a scheme that led to the taking of the life of Cronin, and that unless they can break the force of the showing these men are in a very close corner. Let us hope that the estimate of the News concerning the relation of the Clan-na-Gael to the murder of Dr. Cronin is correct. The American public will be more gratified to have it shown that the organization is not one defying the laws of the land and plotting to do murder, than that it is a murderous association, oath-bound to try and execute its enemies. The people do not wish the shame to attach to our institutions, that because of the breadth of liberty, they are liable to breed assassination societies.

This trouble about the acceptance of the cruiser Charleston has been reduced to this statement by the builders: that the required horse-power can be attained by putting in smaller screws; but this will be at the expense of speed. But the engines were being according to plans furnished by the Government; therefore, that the speed and the horse-power cannot both be obtained, is not the fault of the builders, and no penalty should be visited upon them. That is a plain statement; it corresponds with the forecasts made of the result, when it was announced that the Government had adopted the plans of the machinery of the Japanese war ship, after which the Charleston was modeled. In that light, the builders should not be punished for what was the fault of the former Naval Department.

A "NEWSPAPER MAN," say the dispatches, has been convicted in the southern part of the State of sending obscene letters through the mails. There is no claim made for greater virtue among newspaper men than among the average of any other class of workers; but the fellow who depends to such a crime is repudiated by the fraternity of journalists. The mere fact that some racial has, at some time, possessed types and presses, or served upon a newspaper, does not make him a newspaper man. The fellow referred to, in the remote past, was connected with some sort of a sheet, but he long ago left the business. It is, therefore, improper to speak of him now as one of the craft.

This San Francisco Call suggests that the interior of the State should improve the character of its delegation to the Legislature, and says that unless it sends honest men San Francisco will suffer. The experience of the past justifies the suggestion that San Francisco should begin reforms of that kind at home. Unless she improves the character of her delegation, the interior will continue to suffer, as it has in the past, from the disposition of the San Francisco representatives to make all the State do obeisance to the shrine of the metropolis.

The Highlander Associations of San Francisco have declared war against each other, and the belief is that they will proceed to fight it out in the streets of that city. Since they appear to have license in the metropolis to do pretty much as they please, why not force in Chinatown and charge an admission to see the battle. The city might realize enough to finish its City Hall.

The Seattle press claims for "The Queen City" the distinction of being the wickedest place on earth, when it has four faro games, fourteen opium joints and fifty-two small gambling games running openly. Seattle should not boast until it can show that a few hundred thousand dollars are monthly carted out of the place to replenish the purses of foreign lottery dealers.

The additions to the abbreviations of titles of States of the Union have been two within the last thirty-six hours—N. D. and S. D. There is no much danger of their causing any confusion; not more than in the case of the two Carolinas; but when it comes to Washington, there is certain to be much confusion in the forwarding of letters and parcels.

Our Southern California friends have organized to send a "Southern California Wheel" to roll through the East. It is a mistaken policy. The true interests of the State demand unity of effort of this kind. Division does not redound to our credit. Human nature at the East is much the same as here. If Florida should send to us rival exhibitions we would look with distrust upon them. What was there to prevent Southern California adding her car to the train that has already been prepared? In fact, it was invited to do so, if we are correctly advised.

The Alta says that Miss Hattie French wrote a lurid novel so suggestive that few would read it, and hence the publishers could not sell it; then Miss French went crazy. Both the public and Miss French did the right thing. The entire tribe of "luridists" should profit by Miss French's example.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

On the first day of November the Colusa Sun Publishing Company commenced the publication of a daily evening paper, under the editorial control and business management of Will S. Green. Mr. Green has been a resident of Colusa for the past forty years, and has during all that time worked for the interest of that town and of Colusa county with untiring energy. No man in this State has labored more intelligently and persistently for the well-being and advancement of the section in which he lives than the veteran editor of the Colusa Sun. He has given his time and money for the public good, and he deserves the most liberal support from the people of Colusa. The first two numbers of the Daily Sun have been received, and indicate that the paper will be worthy of the patronage it seeks.

DOOMED TO RUIN.

General Martine Makes a Last Appeal for the Old Fort.

His Honor-Union: I see by today's proceedings of the City Trustees, that at last the dear old Sutter's Fort is doomed, as they have passed an order that unless the property is purchased for the purpose of preserving it inside of the next three weeks, the street which the fort stands shall be opened. This virtually means that the old fort shall be torn down, and those old walls which have so often benefited many a pioneer who needed its shelter shall be a thing of the past.

These old walls have done this State much service, and it is a shame that there is not one of our early Californians (and there are many of them) who came here without a cent, and who today can count their wealth by millions, to come forward and save it from oblivion. I say it is a shame that some one of them has not come to the front, and for old remembrance sake offered to assist in the preservation of the old fort.

But how is it about the owner? He has held off from time to time, waiting for a higher price, but let the old fort be torn down, and the price will be a thing of the past. The old fort is a thing of the past, and the price will be a thing of the past.
